

A Generalization of Trigonometric Functions

Shota Kojima (Rikkyo Univ.)

Abstract

We shall first show that some trigonometric function can be decomposed by infinite composition of functions. Next, we consider the function which is its generalization. We shall discuss that the function has properties like the trigonometric functions. For example, the function has multiple formula.